Groups Questions

1. Looking back, which parenting approach describes your family of origin? How would you describe it?
2. What parenting approaches do you see being utilized in the community? Is there a parenting approach that you find that you gravitate towards?
3. Were you surprised to learn that a 19-year study identified the social competence and emotional resilience of five year olds to be the most accurate predictor of future success? What implications does this have for raising children?
4. Read Philippians 2:3-5. Why is this message resisted in our culture?
5. Why is a consistent home environment critical for child development?
6. Do you think children will feel more or less secure and loved if they see parents loving God first and spouse second (leaving kids third)?
7. Did you grow up in home where the priorities were to adore God first and spouse second? What impact did your family's priority order have on you?
8. What one thing can you do to make your home more Christ-centered this week.
